

Peer Compatibility - Linear Programming Problem

This questionnaire is part of our academic coursework project where we apply concepts from optimization, especially Linear Programming to build a simple compatibility and matchmakin model.

The purpose is purely academic: to see how interests, habits, and personality traits can be represented as data and how optimization techniques can be used to match people with similar profiles.

Your honest responses will help us create a meaningful dataset for this project.

Please fill the form sincerely and avoid submitting rushed or random answers so that the results remain valid.

Confidentiality & Privacy

Your privacy is extremely important to us.

No names are collected.

Only a participant ID (such as roll number) is used to ensure one response per student.

Email is collected only so that your match (if any) can be shared with you personally.

It will not be used for any other purpose.

All responses are strictly confidential and will be used only within this academic project.

The data will be stored securely and will not be shared outside the project group in any identifiable form.

- Your responses will be anonymized before any analysis.
- Your match result (if any) will be sent only to you and will not be shared with anyone else.
